

The Right Way to Care for Baby

PLENTY of sleep, regular hours for feeding, and lots of fresh air! These are the things every baby needs. And in doing all you can to help your baby build a healthful body, you will want to consider most carefully the fresh-air item. The right carriage is important.

Some of the things you will want in a carriage for your baby will be an adjustable hood, a roomy carriage body, durable upholstery that will not easily soil, light, flexible springs, and rubber-tired wheels that sit solidly on the axles. And these are all features of the Heywood-Wakefield carriage. It is the carriage for the out-of-door baby. We have on exhibition some very attractive new models of these handsome baby carriages which we would like to show you.

See our big window display.

F. T. Cutler of North Main street has been engaged this week in breaking roads at Green Mount cemetery in Montpelier for the transfer of a monument from Barre to the capital, and this morning six horses took the granite to the cemetery. The monument is a memorial to Gen. P. D. Pitkin, a well known Civil war figure, whose death occurred a quarter-century ago. Hoyt & Milne cut the monument for Mr. Cutler. It is of the sarcophagus type and of the finest hammered Barre granite. When erected it may easily be rated as one of the best proportional monuments in Green Mount, according to experts who have examined it. Four horses were required to transport the bases and before they gained the outskirts of the city they kept pretty much to the side streets. A double hitch attached to sleds bearing the cap and a die had some trouble on Main street, just north of Depot square, early this morning, and one of the horses, which belong to N. M. Nelson, fell in the highway before the load was dislodged.

Barre bird lovers who have been making a study of the different species which have been making their abode in Vermont during the past few years, were pleased one morning recently when they peeped out on their lawn and detected a flock of evening grosbeaks numbering about a dozen in all. The evening grosbeak is commonly found on the northern coast of the Pacific and a few instances have been recorded where they have migrated to points in central Canada, sometimes in Vermont and other New England states. The bird has a very pretty plumage and the males are prettier than the females, as the masculine sex sport much gayer colors, they being decorated in olivaceous and yellow shades mixed with tints of black and white. Their beaks are large and conical shape. Whenever this species has strayed to New England before, they have usually been alone or perhaps two or three in a flock, and were thought to have been driven outward by the winds after becoming separated from the flock which they were in, but the recent family seemed to have too many for this argument to stand.

Address on temperance Prof. O. K. Holister, principal of Goddard seminary

Sunday's favorite tune, "Brighten the Corner," (No. 40.)

Alcohol has cursed our land a hundred years and more.

Bringing naught but sin and fast decay.

Wrecking lives and ruining homes of both rich and poor.

We want a temperance U. S. A.

Chorus
We want a temperance U. S. A.
Nineteen twenty is our day.
Alcohol we'll banish, we will vote strong drink away.

We want a temperance U. S. A.

Nineteen twenty—a nationless nation is our cry.
Demon drink shall reign no more, we say.

We will work and we will fight until our nation's dry.

We want a temperance U. S. A.

Then a happy land the stars and stripes shall mean to all—
Crime and drink no more shall rule our day.
A foundation for our nation that can never fall.

We want a temperance U. S. A.
Union rally at the Baptist church on March 4.

The Woman Who Knows

What Is or Is Not Correct

SOME of you probably noticed how subtle a feeling there is about this season's style. It gives the wearer an appearance of frankness, simplicity. We found it difficult to find coats and suits that would do for every woman.

Our idea was a garment that would not only look right when worn; it was skilled designing and cutting of the pattern, together with careful tailoring, we were after—coats and suits that needed the least altering.

These days are calling for fine outdoor coats and suits for all sorts of purposes. Make a point of coming to see these immediately, while the range for selection is wide.

The New Spring Suits

Every day now brings new Suit models into our department. Here you will find one of the largest and best selections of these early models we were ever able to show.

We advise making an early selection when convenient, as this season is much different than any we have had. We are getting advances on reorders now, nearly every day. Then, too, when we get further into the season, we will not be able to get many of the good cloths we now have.

You will be much surprised when you see how good a Suit we can give you this season at so little an advance in price. Then, too, the tailoring and finish are so good.

We are anxious to have you see these new models. We are sure that they will surprise and please you.

New Spring Coat Models

The new Coat models have a rare combination of style in designing that will surely please those who are looking for the newest Coat designs.

Notice how the generosity of material in this Coat is used to give those long, straight lines so much desired. Notice also how cleverly the new belt effect is executed, so that the buttons give a button-trimmed effect to the belt and pockets.

There is an engaging girlishness about the way the collar tucks in on the side. Something pleasing also to the novel belt that encloses those sweeping line panels.

Altogether some of the best ideas in design and style that have been shown for many seasons.

See Our Wash Goods

You will be more pleased this season than any other with the variety of new designs, in the large range of different wash goods. The qualities and designs are new and very engaging. Make an extra effort to see our large display of these most popular cloths.

TALK OF THE TOWN

John Slayton of Cabot was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Miss Emma Whitney, who has been in New York and Boston during the past three weeks, returned to Barre Thursday evening. Miss Glynora Gould, who met her in Boston, accompanied her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark F. Cutler of Jefferson street left this morning for Boston, where they are to attend the auto show, which opened to-day. A number of other Barre people plan to leave early in the coming week for the Hub.

A pair of two-year-old steers broken and driven by the eldest son of D. A. Perry created considerable talk among the railbirds in Depot square yesterday afternoon. Although the animals, when compared with oxen or horses, are inferior in size, they accomplished the task of hauling a big load of oats from Mr. Perry's farm to Cutler Bros.' stable and did it with apparent ease. City weigher Louis A. Roleau decreed that the load weighed 2,325 pounds and the bystanders were ready to agree that the steers were doing pretty well. The heavy haulers responded quickly to the urgings of the driver and adapted themselves to trying conditions in Depot square with more composure than horses usually exhibit.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Tourist club will meet with Mrs. Eastman Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Why is the L. O. Forsters the blue ribbon order of the world? Mr. Kinney will tell you Tuesday night at K. of C. hall.

The class in parliamentary law will meet in Aldrich hall Monday at 3 p. m. The lesson will be "The rank of dependent motions."

"The American Crisis and Germany" will be the theme at the Presbyterian church to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. Those who heard Rev. Edgar Crossland last Sunday will want to listen to an even more vital subject—adv.

Earl Ellis, formerly of Northfield and now of Hartford, Conn., visited Francis Wells of South Main street and other friends in the city yesterday, returning last evening to Northfield, where he is making a visit of several days.

Barre performers in the K. K. K. minstrels given in Randolph last week are commended by the Randolph Herald and News in the following words: "Master Mercer of Barre gracefully interpreted in Randolph, but for the past five years the bagpipe accompaniment of Mr. Riddle, also of Barre. The bagpipe is a new musical (!) instrument here, but the Scotch love its weird wheezes and grunts."

TALK OF THE TOWN

Joseph Boulbris of Westerville left this morning for Edge View farm in Brandon, where he has secured employment, training Morgan horses.

An old box car furnished with settees, desk, stove and till for the tools used by the section men, giving it nearly all the conveniences of a modern house, in which the employees of the Montpelier & Wells River railroad may eat their lunches, was placed in the rear of Calder's harness shop on Depot square yesterday afternoon. In the past the men on the road had to eat their dinners in the blacksmith shop amid the flying cinders from the forge which at times was anything but agreeable.

A Greensboro farmer, W. S. Ingalls, came to Barre one day recently with a sled load of produce which he quickly turned into money. Aboard the sled he had a cargo of 16 fine porkers, which he unloaded on a local meat buyer at the going price. Dealers whom he consulted in regard to the sale of the hogs are quoted as saying that it was the largest load of dressed pork to be brought into Barre this winter. Mr. Ingalls, when he left town for home, was undecided whether he would spend the proceeds of the sale on a couple of quailries at Woodbury or build a palatial yacht on Lake Caspian next summer.
